A daily guide to cruise activities

Sunrise 6:29am • Sunset 6:33pm • Tonight's Dress: Smart Casual

Welcome to Aruba

Dutch influence still lingers on this balmy Caribbean island, part of the Netherlands Antilles until independence in 1986. Aruba is a contrast: the island's arid interior is dotted with cactus and windswept divi divi trees; secluded coves and sandy beaches form its coast. Aruba's long and colorful heritage is reflected in its dialect. Called Papiamentu, it's a tongue that combines elements of Spanish, French, Portuguese, Dutch, African, and English.

FROM THE NAVIGATOR

In the early hours of the morning we cleared the northeast coast of Colombia, altering course to an easterly heading off the north coast of Venezuela. The island of Aruba is located only 15 Nautical Miles north of the "Peninsula de Paraguana" the northern most part of Venezuela. At around 6:30am we will embark the local pilot and proceed to the western approaches of "Paarden Baai". Here the reefs are marked by channel buoys and we will transit within the channel on our final approach to "Oranjestaad". We expect to be alongside by 8:30am. At around 5:00pm this evening we will let go our lines and depart Oranjestaad. Once clear we will disembark our pilot and set northerly course across the Caribbean Sea.
